

"Bad Booze" Causes Thousands Of Deaths In U.S. In Past Year

DEATH LURKING IN YULETIDE BOWL OF POISONOUS LIQUOR

More Than 2100 Deaths Are Reported In Only 22 Important Cities.

COUNTRY FACING FLOOD OF LIQUOR

New York City Reports 7,000 Alcoholic Sent To Hospitals.

New York, Dec. 11.—Christmas, the season of proverbial cheer, holds certain promise of death for hundreds throughout the United States.

Death lurks in the Yuletide bowl, filled with "imported" liquors, synthetic gins, etherized beer, plain old moonshine and the dozens of varieties of home brewed and deadly products of the amateur and conscienceless distillers of "poisons."

Reports from coroners' police and health departments of 22 of the principal cities throughout the United States show that to date "bad booze" has caused 2,165 deaths.

If this figure is applicable to the entire United States it means fusel oil, ether, wood alcohol and other ingredients of 1923 liquor have claimed thousands of other victims—a conservative estimate 10,000.

Two big occasions for the bootlegger—Christmas and New Year's—are just ahead and the coroners and ambulance men all over the land are getting ready for the rush.

The 2,165 deaths reported were declared to be conservative estimates and in many instances official declared to be conservative estimates and in many instances official figures.

Philadelphia reported 400 deaths attributable directly to poison rum. The coroner said this figure is "conservative."

Another 400 deaths, the coroner reports, were due to alcoholism as a contributing cause as in pneumonia and similar diseases induced by bad booze.

New York city has had 33 deaths already this year as compared with 25 for all of 1922.

In Chicago, Health Commissioner Herman M. Bundesau credits liquor with 255 tabulated deaths; Whisky 220 other beer 45, gin 4, others 13, and who none.

Detroit had 115 deaths, Cleveland 90, Pittsburgh 57, Kansas City 63, Buffalo 49, Portland 35 and Des Moines 30, according to their police and health department records.

Other reports were:

VENDETTA WARFARE BREAKS OUT ANEW

Fifth Man Shot In Reign Of Terror; Eight Killings Is Threat.

Steubenville, Dec. 11.—Steubenville's vendetta warfare, which has had the Italian section of the city in terror for many weeks, broke out again last night when Anthony Finelli 41, was shot seven times on Barclay ave.

Finelli is at the point of death. Before becoming unconscious, he refused to name his assailants.

Finelli was found lying against a house, residents of the neighborhood hearing the seven shots. All of the bullets had taken effect in his lungs and intestines. Citizens saw two men run up an alley after the shooting. It is believed Finelli was injured in the scene of the shooting by his assailants.

Finelli is the fifth victim of the mysterious warfare which has terrorized the Italian residents here and completely mystified the police. Four of the victims have died.

A mysterious note received by local police yesterday stated "there will be eight killings in Steubenville before this gang is through."

Demand For Babies Greater Than The Supply Says Judge

"Demand for babies is greater than the supply," declares Probate Judge Lodge Riddle.

"It is the same all over the state and this country is no exception. The younger the baby the greater the demand for it," the court went on to explain.

Very often inquiry is made in the probate court at Lisbon, and at the Fairmount Children's Home for babies for adoption. Boys are of particular interest but the demand for baby girls is not at all small.

According to a recent law, children who are victims of hereditary illness, and which ill develop up to the age of 14, are reclaimed by the state and placed in institutions where proper treatment is extended and the adoption then annulled.

"Good healthy babies, when adopted, stay put," Judge Riddle has explained.

ANOTHER ARREST MAY BE RESULT OF CONRAD PROBE

Third Man Is Described In Trial Of Sirbu, Held For Murder.

STORY OF BATTLE TOLD BY WITNESS

Says "American" In a Brown Coat Was In Group That Attacked Conrad.

Youngstown, Dec. 11.—A third arrest in the slaying of Dr. S. E. Conrad, dry raider who was stabbed during a liquor raid on the night of Nov. 19, may result following the testimony of Steve Gross, 905 Wabash, at the hearing of Ironim Sirbu in police court yesterday.

Sirbu is making an effort to have the charge of first degree murder reduced.

The witness told a graphic story of the chase from Front st. to the Sirbu market in which the fatal stabbing occurred in which he says Vasil Bogdan, Ironim Sirbu, Pete Sirbu and another man whom he did not know but termed the "American" participated.

He saw the struggle on the steps of the butcher shop, in which the attack centered on one man, who slowly was driven down under a rain of blows.

The arrest of the man known as the "American" may result from Gross' testimony that he was "the man with the brown overcoat." Sergeant Winkler testified on Saturday that Conrad, while lying on the ground, pointed out "the man wearing the brown overcoat" as one of the assailants.

Tells of Fight Gross testified he saw I. Sirbu in the butcher shop. While the fight was going on, Gross was unable to distinguish the men as their backs were turned to the street, he said.

When asked directly by Attorney Oscar Diser, counsel for Sirbu, if Sirbu appeared as a man who had been in a fight, the witness replied that he seemed "scared."

Gross said he was returning from work and was walking along East Front st. when a man ran out of a building and yelled. He could not understand the language, he said, but when Ironim Sirbu ran out of his market his action appeared to be a response to the shout.

When the man yelled a second time, Pete Sirbu and "Pat" whom Gross said he recognized through a picture in the paper as Vasil Bogdan, now wanted in connection with the murder, ran into the street.

A few moments later they passed him, Conrad in the lead, followed in order by the "American," Bogdan, Pete Sirbu and Ironim Sirbu. They ran directly to the butcher shop, where the struggle began in which Conrad was stabbed.

The butcher shop was only dimly lighted and he was unable to distinguish the forms, Gross said. A minute later he saw the "American" standing in the doorway with his arm about Conrad and saw him strike the wounded man twice in the face.

He then carried the wounded officer across the street, Gross said. He heard the American say, "We will show you who you are."

After many very interesting stunts were performed by the famed magician, "Nations," he was discovered to be none other than their post commander, Richard Hutchison. His contributions were clever and unique and brought forth a voluminous round of praise.

Another cleverly arranged feature of the entertainment was a horse race staged between "A Heel You Love to Touch" and "Spark Plug." These were two "kiddle cars" entered by members of the post. The professional air with which the entire program was carried out was highly commendable, John Campbell having planned much of the program and being largely responsible for its success.

COUNTY HIGHWAY FUND IS $90,440 SHORT OF NEEDS

County Auditor Presents Statement Showing Big Deficit.

FUNDS LACKING ON THIS YEAR'S WORK

Estimate $184,000 Will Be Needed For Projects Coming Year.

By M. K. Zimmerman
Lisbon, Dec. 11.—Some arrangement must be made by the county commissioners, acting in conjunction with Prosecuting Attorney J. C. Hanley and County Auditor Hamilton to provide probably $100,000 to complete the road program for 1924, in addition to funds already available.

Mr. Hamilton has pointed out to the commissioners that the road fund at this time is $90,440 short of the amount rendered for the completion of the 1923 road program, and for the projects outlined for next year.

For the 1924 road projects there will be needed $184,000, and for the payment of the 1923 projects there is yet to be paid $21,440 more than is now in the road fund.

The detailed statement of Mr. Hamilton, as presented the commissioners shows $2,000 necessary to complete the Youngstown-Lisbon road, which was awarded during the past year to the Miller Contracting Co.

There is also due the Kane Construction Co., for its work on the Lisbon-Canton-Southern road west of Lisbon $9,000.

On the Paxson contract, which was the improvement of the East Palestine-New Waterford road, $16,390 is to be paid, and on the Salem-Goshen road, the contract was awarded the Willite Co., of East Liverpool at $14,000.

On the Seth Morris contract, which was for the improvement of the Elkton-Clarkson road, $6,810 is to be paid, and there is necessary for payment of bills already approved from the road fund of $3,300, or a total of $51,440.

There is in the road fund at the time of the completion of the statement $30,000, thereby creating a shortage of $21,440, all of which refers to the 1923 road projects.

$184,000 Needed

There is necessary for new work in 1924 $184,000, to be divided among the following proposed projects:

East Liverpool-Wellsville road	$10,000
Youngstown-East Liverpool road, Fairfield township	40,000
Youngstown-East Liverpool road, Elkrum township	14,000
Wellsville-Salisville road	50,000
Washington township	40,000
Force account	40,000

Total $184,000
Amount from 2-mill road levy for 1924, less sum appropriated to pay notes $115,000

Balance to be supplied to road fund in 1924 $90,440

It is noted that in this statement no reference made of the project in Butler road, project in Yellow Creek township, or the grading of the Wellsville-Salisville road in that township via the Chattle lake route, neither is any reference made of the project in Butler township having to do with the improvement of the Salem-East Rochester highway.

It is also recalled that no reference has been made to the improvement of the Shirk road in Hanover township, from the Lincoln highway south to Duganston.

That numerous conferences will result between the county commissioners and the new boards of trustees after Jan. 1, with reference to road projects there is no question. The new board of trustees of West township is understood to be vitally interested in the surfacing of the North Georgetown road, but the statement given the commissioners by Mr. Hamilton does not refer to any projects in that township at this time.

BURKE IS URGED TO BE CANDIDATE

Citizens To Petition State Senator To Enter Race For Governor.

Elyria, Dec. 11.—Citizens of Elyria, Lorain county and other neighboring communities tonight are to ask State Senator J. F. Burke to unequivocally declare his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor and thereby clear up any doubts left by the senator's declaration of Sept. 10, which in the language of the petition, "would indicate that there might be someone else in Ohio who would stand for substantially the same principles and whom you would willingly support."

The invitation to lead and the pledge of unwavering support will be made at a complimentary dinner tendered the Elyria and Bucyrus publisher by his fellow townsmen.

The petition, which has been signed by hundreds, will, it is understood, be presented to Senator Burke by A. L. Gartford, himself a candidate for governor on the "Bull Moose" ticket in 1912, and who has been a member and officer of the Republican state committee.

Newspapers in School

THE movement started by Director of Education Riegel of Ohio to teach pupils in the public schools to be "discriminating and discerning users of the public press" is worthy of consideration.

Director Riegel sees in the newspaper an epitome of life and knows that it can give a faithful portrayal only by painting the picture complete.
But he recognizes as equally true that news items have a relative value.
Some are far more significant than others.

The range is all the way from the "story" that merely entertains to reports that vitally affect the public interest and welfare, and even the course of nations. A special department on one page may deal with amusements; on another with public questions, or with the home or the health of individuals. It is all there in this history of a day, and each part has its place and its value.

But the individual mind must be able to select and assimilate what is of real worth to it. To read all this material as of about equal importance, running through it in a passive sort of way, is to miss the greatest service that a newspaper can give its readers.

Mr. Riegel puts it strongly. He says the teacher is not doing her duty who misses the opportunity in the classroom to train the children to read the newspaper with discernment. Here is a chance to weigh values, study the significance of events, and call out such material as is useful and beneficial to the mind cultivating it. Certainly this power, if developed, will be good for the child.
It will be good for him when he becomes an adult. It will better equip him for the duties of citizenship.

And it will be equally good for the newspaper as an institution, when we have raised up a generation of more discriminating readers.

Checking White Plague

MANY truths are told each year about tuberculosis and the Chris-mas seal sale.

But the one outstanding fact is that since 1910, when Christmas seals were first sold in Ohio to finance the anti-tuberculosis movement, the death rate from tuberculosis has been reduced from 150 per 100,000 population to 85 per 100,000 population.

Had the 1920 rate continued there would have been 9064 deaths from this disease in 1922 instead of 5130.

HAVE PEST OF CATERpillARS

Myriads of the Insects Strip Trees in Bohemia—Peasants Carry Umbrellas in Woods.

Oscar John, a New York musician who returned recently from Czechoslovakia, said that the great forests of northern Bohemia were being destroyed by a caterpillar pest, according to the New York Times.

"The caterpillars in northern Bohemia," said Mr. John, "originate in myriads from the black butterfly called the nonne, or nun in English, which lays its eggs on the ground in the forests. Directly these insects are hatched they swarm up the trees, sap-pling its life as they climb up the trunk by eating all the green shoots and leaves.

"On reaching the top the caterpil-lars swing by their own saliva across to the next tree and destroy it as they go down to the ground. Millions of these crawling pests make a mass when they are doing the aerial trapeze act and fall to the ground so thickly that it is just like rain.

"Peasants walking through these dense forests have to carry great cotton umbrellas to prevent themselves from being smothered by the caterpillars. There are no plowmen under the trees, because a soup basin would be filled up before there would be a chance to eat the contents.

"The only thing that can be done with the trees after the caterpillars have finished with them is to cut down the dead trunks and saw them up into logs for firewood.

"It gives one an uncanny feeling to walk through the great dark forests of northern Bohemia and hear the gloomy croak of the buzzsaw from the lofty branches of the trees and the pitter-patter of the caterpillar rain on the big umbrellas carried by the peasants."

LONG TRIP 100 YEARS AGO

Story of the Strenuous Exploring Expedition of Maj. S. H. Long Into Northwest.

The exploring expedition conducted by Maj. Stephen H. Long of the United States army took its departure from Philadelphia on the 20th of April last with the view of traversing the American territory in a northwesterly direction and returning by way of the great northern lakes, says the Franklin Gazette of October 27, 1823. The gentleman composing the expedition according proceeded by way of Wheeling,
Fort Wayne, Chicago, Prairie du Chien and Fort St. Anthony to the source of the River St. Peter.

They then traveled over the valley of the River St. Peter to its junction with the Assiniboine, having ascertained, agreeably to their instructions, the point at which the forty-ninth degree of north latitude, the northern boundary of the United States, crosses that river. Thus far they had gone by horses, but at this place they embarked on board bark canoes, in which they reached Lake Superior. Here they exchanged their canoes for a bateau and, amid severe gales and storms with snow, proceeded to Mackinaw, where they met a revenue cutter, which took them to Detroit. There they boarded the steamboat Superior and landed at Buffalo.

Pursuing their journey they found passage on board of one of the New York canal packet boats at Rochester on the Genesee river, and traveled on the customary route to Philadelphia.

The tour extended to the fifty-first degree of north latitude and embraced a stretch of more than 4,000 miles, upward of 2,000 of which were through a savage wilderness. This long and hazardous expedition has been completed in the short period of three days less than six months, and greatly redeems to the credit of the distinguished scientific officers by whom it was conducted.

CITIZENSHIP TESTS AT LISBON DEC. 19

Soldiers who served during the late war, and who were not American citizens at the time of service, will have their last opportunity to obtain final citizenship papers under the existing law Dec. 19.

On this day also there will be a hearing conducted by an examiner from the Naturalization Service Bureau of the United States Department of Labor for those who are eligible for their second papers. Because of a new ruling, applicants for second citizenship papers must appear for a preliminary examination which is a new feature of the naturalization laws.

Clerk of Courts John T. Burns has been advised by the Department of Labor through the office at Pittsburg that 27 cases for second papers will be inquired into at the hearing Dec.
19.

Following the examination the examiner will then proceed to grant final citizenship papers to those soldiers entitled to receive them.

The law under which soldiers can obtain final papers expires before the next session of the naturalization court in this county next spring.

MADE HIS GARDEN PAY WELL

Minnesota Lad Laid His Plans Early and Carried Them Out With Skill.

Garden plans started during Christmas vacation and carried out the following summer earned a Minnesota club boy a net profit of more than $100 and the state garden club championship for last year. Obtaining a location for his garden early, this club boy, Willard Weeks of Winona, Minn., drew a plan of his plot, indicating the place for each variety of seed, so that when he had the ground prepared in the spring there was no delay in laying off and planting the rows. The first products of the garden were ready for use 21 days after planting. From that time on, throughout the summer, this young gardener not only supplied his family with all the fresh vegetables needed, but, learning how to prepare his products for market, he built up an extensive trade among his neighbors. Finding the price for late products low, he used the training he had acquired in canning club work to put up tomatoes, beets and corn, pickles and preserves for winter use. At the end of the season his records showed the total value of vegetables used at home, canned, and stored for winter, and sold, to be $135, produced at an expense of $21.50.

RADIO

(Edited by G. Douglas Wardrop, Editor of Radio Merchandising.)

By PAUL G. WATSON

A great many designs of loud-speaking receivers are on the market today, all with metal horns of some form or other. With practically no exceptions, these devices reproduce music and voice with a harsh, metallic sound similar to old models of the phonograph. The present models of loud speakers are somewhat smaller in size than the wooden horn here described. They are designed to be placed on a table or stand, while this wooden horn is of sufficient size to stand on the floor in the parlor or places where a finished piece of apparatus is desirable. This horn described will stand from 36 inches to 40 inches high, and requires a floor space about 10 inches square.

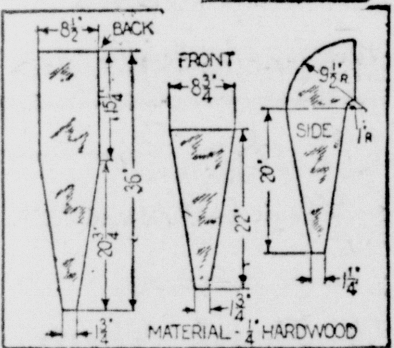

Mounting of the Telephone Receiver in the Base.

unit is clamped against the top of the base by a wooden strip, held in place by two long wood screws passing through the strip into the top of the box. Pads of rubber are placed wherever the receiver case touches the base. Pieces of an automobile inner tube will serve this purpose. The phone should be mounted firmly, but not tight enough to crack the case.

The dimensions of the base are of minor importance, as long as the base is large enough to keep the horn upright, a size from nine to ten inches square being about right for the horn described here. The height of this box, or base, should be about six or seven inches.

Construction of the Horn.

The feature hardest to construct is the bending of the front and back panels at the horn. The proper way to do this is to boil the parts to be bent in water for several hours and then bend them over a form, on which they are allowed to dry. Much of the tendency to spring out of shape is eliminated by this method of bending. The cleats shown in the assembly drawing prevent the thin material from bending or warping after it has been put in place. They should be fastened with small brass wood screws and glue. Only cleats necessary for strengthening the horn are shown in the drawing. A much neater appearing horn can be had by working these cleats into a system of paneling. To bring out the points where strength was needed the remainder were omitted. The cleat passing under the front panel, having the short bend, should have its upper side rounded to fit this bend, and should be glued and screwed in place. Where cleats are added, they must be on the outside, to give a clear passage for the sound.

Shape and Dimensions of the Pieces Needed for the Construction of the Horn.

The Complete Horn.

The four pieces of the horn are fastened together after bending and drying, with small nails and glue. The joints in the straight section of the horn can be strengthened by the addition of triangular blocks, glued in the corners. A small brass bracket can be placed under the cleats at the large end of the horn to hold the joint together if necessary. The lower end of the horn should be squared off, and is fastened to the base by four triangular wooden blocks mitered around the lower end of the horn. These blocks should be screwed and glued to the horn, and then fastened to the base board in a like manner, making a very rigid joint.

The remainder of the base is put together with round-head screws and has no complicated details, being only a simple wooden box, made of one-half-inch stock, while the bottom or base board is made of three-quarter-inch stock. A small hole is drilled in one side for the phone cord to pass, or, if desired, a pair of binding posts can be placed on the top of the base.

Gives Clear Reception.

I have found this loud speaker to give much clearer reception, when handling strong signals, than any other phone I was able to get. It is particularly desirable to have a clear phone, if voice, such as a radio sermon, is being reproduced, and in this case this loud speaker is fine, for a talk to an audience.

The finish of the piece can be of any desired color or nature. It is well to give the inside of the horn several coats of good varnish to produce a clear, smooth surface for the sound to travel over.

It might be well to bring out the principle involved in a loud-speaking receiver or any horn. There is no amplification in the horn. The horn serves as the connecting link between the small volume of air, which vibrates with the receiver diaphragm, and the outside air of the room. Any increase of sound, which might seem to the layman as amplified in the horn, is only the result of a better connection, through the horn, between the small volume of air in the receiver and that in the room.

Find Substitute for Troublesome Battery

Now that the Westinghouse WD11 tube is available, many amateurs will want to substitute this tube for the six-volt tube and eliminate the troublesome storage battery. The only difficulty is that sockets or adapters are not easily obtained.

Since the prongs of the WD11 tube are not all the same size, nor do they have the same relative connections as the other tubes, as shown in Fig. 1, the making of a socket is more practicable and less difficult than an adapter, which requires the base of a burned out tube.

Take a piece of hard rubber or other insulating material 2 inches by 2 3/4 inches, or the exact size of the socket you wish to replace, if you want to substitute in a set already made. Using the standard socket for a pattern, drill four holes for the fastening screws. Then, instead of spring contacts for the prongs, take thin sheet copper, or better still, phosphor bronze strips, and roll three of these strips an inch long around a 6-penny nail and one around a 20-penny spike. These tubes should fit the prongs snugly. Insert these four cylindrical tubes into the holes drilled at the proper places as shown in Fig. 2. Solder a piece of insulated wire to each of the tubes, under the hard rubber base and connect to proper binding post as in Fig. 2. This gives a receptacle for the WD11 tube, which can be used in a new set or which will replace any standard socket without a change in wiring.

How to Make Switch for Your Vest Pocket

Many amateurs are beginning to make pocket sets, but they sometimes experience difficulty in the selection of a proper switch lever and become quite puzzled because of the fact that the ordinary switch is too big for the small space allotted to it. A suitable switch for such work can be made from a binding post. The style with the rubber knob and threaded washer is best. A piece of brass one-half-inch high and one-thirty-second of an inch in thickness should be bent and made to fit the threaded screw and a steel spring which will fit loosely over the brass sleeve procured. It will be best to cut the lever out of a springy piece of brass. On tightening the washer, the switch will never become loose.

Switch Lever for Pocket Set.

SPROUTS NEW EAR FROM HIS OWN RIB

Cartilage To Be Basis For Strange Operation On Police Officer.

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—Modern surgery has not yet progressed to the stage where one can make a woman out of a man's rib, but physicians at the Woman's Medical college here are able to manufacture an ear from the cartilage of a rib.

At least that is what they are doing in the case of Wilbur Jones, negro policeman, who lost an ear while valiantly subduing a mob three years ago.

Dr. G. M. Dorrance, professor of surgery at the college, is in direct charge of the unusual piece of work. Pointing out that the ear is made up for the most part of cartilage, Dr. Dorrance states that the only problem is to obtain some cartilage from a portion of the body where it will afterwards be replaced by nature.

A clay model is made of the proposed ear, and then the cartilage is removed from the man's seventh rib and actually carved by hand to match the model of the ear. An incision is then made in the man's back and the cartilage placed beneath the skin, where it is nourished by the blood supply. A strip of skin is then cut on the patient's shoulder, but not detached, in order to preserve life in it, "the way one would peel a banana," as the doctor phrases it. The cartilage is next removed from its temporary place in the back and now thoroughly provided with skin and blood vessels, is firmly stitched to the remains of the old ear.

The shoulder skin, formed into a tube, carries fresh blood to the cartilage ear until it is grafted onto the remains of the old ear. When this is accomplished the skin tube is gradually cut away, and Jones will step out of the hospital with a new ear of his own making.

CONGRESS "VETS" STILL ARE ACTIVE

OLD MEMBERS, THOUGH FEW IN NUMBERS, RETAIN THEIR INFLUENCE IN COUNSEL.

MOST TALKED OF IS LODGE

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Congress has a good many old men in its membership. The old ones still are active and are very much in it. The middle-aged ones outnumber the young and the old many times, but there is a certain influence which the elders have which cannot be gainsaid. The extremely young men in congress are not numerous, and neither are they ordinarily influential in counsel, but they know that later they will come along.

Probably the man who because of his influential position in congress has had more written and said about him than any of his colleagues is Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican leader of the senate. Senator Lodge as chairman of the committee on foreign relations has in his keeping the world court proposal of President Harding. This fact alone recently has focused the eyes of the country on the person and the doings of the Massachusetts senator.

There have been few cases in congress where the old men have lost their influence, provided they ever had any. It is perfectly true that some men have grown old in the legislative service of their country without ever attracting much attention. Their constituents have found them hard working, willing to look after the home interests, and have been content to return them to office term after term, even if they did not shine as statesmen. As a rule, however, the old man who stays in congress is a good deal of a power even if his voice is not as it once was and his body is not always unshaken by the winds of controversy.

Lodge Sometimes Warm Up. Henry Cabot Lodge always has been regarded as a cold man. He certainly is not red hot save on rare occasions, and he certainly is not given to slapping men on the back to call them Bill, Tom, and Dick, and to inquire after the health of the babies, but Lodge has done some human things to amaze men.

Some years ago when he was well past threescore years of age this scholar in politics was affronted by a burly committee room besieger who was after something or other that he should not have been after. The rather real looking senatorial scholar of Massachusetts was not afraid on that occasion to "mix in." He thrashed the heavyweight who had insulted him and when he walked later into the senate chamber Democrats and Republicans, with delighted grins on faces, pressed forward to offer the handshake of congratulation.

When one writes of the Republican Lodge his mind turns back to the Democrats, Morgan and Pettus of Alabama. They grew old together in the senate service, but they never lost their influence, never lost their power or persuasion of speech, and never lost their quiet sense of humor which saved for them many a situation.

In the senate today is a party colleague of Senator Lodge, Francis E. Warren of Wyoming. This senator is one of the old line Republicans whose habit of political thought today probably is just as it was years ago. He is a Civil War veteran and he wears the Congressional Medal of Honor for conspicuous personal gallantry on the field of battle. Warren has been attacked as few men have been attacked. He seems to have withstood the shocks of assault without much physical trouble. He will be eighty years old next June. He still is in the ring and does not look like one who soon is to be counted out.

Old Members Real Warriors. The old saying about old men for counsel and young men for war does not hold true in its entirety in either house of congress. Some of the oldest members of both branches are the real warriors when it comes to the fighting pitch. John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who retired from the senate last spring, went out as he came in, fighting. He led many a battle in the house before he was sent over by his state to represent it in the senate, and he fought many a battle in his new position. The younger men used to look at him with an expression which, interpreted, seemed to mean, "We wonder if such spirited pugacity will last with us through the years."

Some of the old-timers seem to be able to stand fatigue better than the youngsters. Perhaps it is because they have taken better care of themselves. It is known that several of the old senators for years have set for themselves daily certain physical exercises and have seen to it that no matter what else was going on to claim their attention they should not neglect the duty of keeping well physically.

Age is supposed to mellow men's temperaments and, tempers. There have been some members of congress, however, who kept until the very end the sharp readiness to say the hard thing. Others who were known for their calm reasonableness in youth have found a peace through years of life to dull the edges of their swords without dulling the point. One occasionally hears as hard a thing from the lips of age as from the lips of youth in the congress of the United States, but in the main the aged trust more to counsel.

Persons who want anything known that The News is the way to get it. In this instance, so said it.

Wants War Decision Submitted To Voters

Washington, Dec. 11.—A campaign to prevent the United States government from declaring war upon any foreign nation without first submitting the proposal to a vote of the people, was launched in congress today by Senator F. 4 BIND JANITOR, GET $4,000 HAUL

Youngstown, Dec. 11.—Methods of safe-breakers and bandits were combined early Monday morning when four men bound John Haith, janitor at the Dome motion picture theater, cracked the safe open and took its contents amounting to more than $4,000.

Haith was called to the door of the theater by a man who covered him with a revolver. He was bound and placed in the auditorium. The quartet then robbed the safe. By the time Haith was able to notify police the men had made their escape. They were unmasked. Description of them was furnished to police.

About $2,200 was obtained yesterday when a safe was opened at the office of A. H. Buehrle Co., at noon Saturday $700 was taken from the Elm street branch of the Dollar Savings & Trust Co., in a daylight hold-up.

An unsuccessful effort to rob the safe of T. H. Roberts' store, 135 East Federal st. was discovered this morning. The combination had been tampered with but the safe was not opened.

No Free Clinics But Attention To Needy Cases Will Be Given

"While we will not take part in any free clinics, you can rest assured that all needy cases will be given first attention," declared County Health Commissioner T. T. Church Tuesday.

Recently it was announced that free clinics in this county had been eliminated, but it seems that the stand of the county health office had been misunderstood.

Dr. Church made it very plain that where conditions warrant, no case requiring medical care will be passed by, but that all such cases will be cared for as soon as reported.

Some Taxpayers Are Too Anxious To Pay; Appear Before Time

Although many people have appeared in the office of County Treasurer Jo Pike to pay their December taxes, money has been refused on account of the apportionment not being worked out. It will be at least ten days before all books are complete.

The county commissioners have extended the time for paying taxes for 30 days, and this limit will include all of January.

Last year there was no delay in making out the various tax apportionments and collections were made with considerable promptness. The change this year was due to the new levies going on the books following the November election.

LOWDEN A PASSIVE CANDIDATE, REPORT

Washington, Dec. 11.—Frank O. Lowden, ex-governor of Illinois, who figured in the memorable triple deadlock for the Republican nomination for the presidency at Chicago in 1920, is reported to be a passive candidate for the nomination in 1924, according to friends of the former governor, who are in Washington today attending the meeting of the Republican national committee.

Gov. Lowden has been spending several days in Washington. He has regularly declined to discuss political or candidacies for publication, although he has engaged in conferences with numerous personal and political friends. According to these friends, Gov. Lowden has no intention of announcing his candidacy for the president or of entering any primaries.

Malnutrition Causes Many Ills of the Modern Flapper, According to One Physician.

He is a serious young doctor with his office in the upper fifties. Among his patients are young women of the type that will be known to history as the flapper.

"They aren't well and they aren't ill," the young doctor complained indignantly to a New York Globe writer. "There's nothing the matter with them except malnutrition. It takes almost an hour sometimes to examine one of this type of patient, only to find that her heart, lungs, stomach are all in excellent condition. There is nothing particularly wrong except that she is far under weight."

"When I tell this type of patient that the answer is always the same, 'Heavens, doctor,' they shriek. 'I wouldn't put on any more weight for the world. Why, I might get hippy. And I could never wear knickers for golf any more, for there is nothing I dislike so much as hippy women in knickers.'

"Again the protest is this: 'Why, doctor, if I got fat I might lose my nice ankles, of which I am proud as a stork in the fable. And just when stork skirts are coming in again. Oh, no doctor, I couldn't think of getting fatter now. It would quite spoil my type.'

"And so they go, with lowered vitality and less resistance to colds and all kinds of disease, just for the sake of style."

OPENING UP A NEW COUNTRY

Territory of Quintana Roo, Yucatan, Being Developed By Aid of Caterpillar Tractor.

A territory covering 18,000 square miles, which is only 600 miles south of New Orleans and reported to be almost unknown, has been invaded by an American caterpillar tractor. This territory, twice the size of Massachusetts, possessing vast unexploited natural resources, practically without population and nearly 300 miles from north to south, possessing a coast line of probably twice that length, is called the Territory of Quintana Roo, Peninsula of Yucatan, Mexico. The government is territorial, the capital is Santa Cruz de Bravo, a town of about 2,500 midway down the Mexican Gulf coast and most of the remainder of the 9,000 population are located in the villages of Mayo Obispo, Cozumel and Becan.

Modern transportation facilities are non-existent, but the advent within the past month of the caterpillar tractor in the forests of Quintana Roo is the initiation of the development of its soil, which is claimed to be suitable for the production of corn, cotton, beans, coffee, indigo, rubber, sugar cane, tobacco, sweet potatoes, pepper, vanilla, henequen and tropical fruits, in this rich and unexplored section.

Commonplace.
There was a girl in New York city who had been working for eight years without a vacation. She was thin, white, and her shoulders were stooped. She had an old mother dependent upon her, and for eight years she had been toiling to free her home from the incubus of debt. One night she took an "elevated" home. In her hand she tightly clutched an envelope. She ran all the way up the street and could hardly turn the door-knob. She hurried into the room where her mother sat and dropped the envelope into her lap with a sob. The mother opened it and discovered that it was a canceled mortgage. The debt was paid. Just a commonplace girl—that was all. But oh! the beauty of that sacrificial love for her mother!

Devotion With a Limit.
Few of the boys at the club had met Cuthbert's better half. Hoffy, being one of the few, was called upon for information.
"Has Cuthbert a devoted wife?"
"As the times go, you might say so."

Whereupon, being asked for an explanation, he proceeded to explain: "She won't cook breakfast for him, but she always joins him downtown in time for dinner."

Good Football Material.
"I hear your boy has entered college, Hiram," said Jehiel.
"Yes," assented the other.
"How is he doing?" asked the friend.
"The professors say his skull is too thick to get anything through," answered the father.
"Uh, ha."
"But, of course, that makes him a star in football."

Now He Knows.
Slam, bang, crash!
Thus was shattered the silence of the night. After that final crash came a pause that was portentous. A faint stir was heard.
Mother whispered: "Dear me, father didn't know we moved the hat-rack."
"Well, he knows now," muttered grandma.

Expensive.
Frederick O'Brien, author of South Sea Island adventures, was entertaining friends at his Glendale home with some of his experiences. He chanced to remark that on one of the islands a wife could be bought for the equivalent of $5. "How perfectly awful!" exclaimed one of the ladies present. "Oh, I don't know," reflected her husband, "I suppose prices are high there just the same as everywhere else."

STOCKS

TRADING IS IRREGULAR

New York, Dec. 11.—Irregularly marked trading at the opening of the stock market today. Fractional losses were scattered throughout the list but in some directions sharp advances were made, especially in Corn Products, which rose 1½ points to 140 and General Electric, which jumped two points to 199.

Steels were heavy, U. S. Steel at 94½, Bethlehem Steel at 52½, Crucible at 65½ and Pullman at 123½ were from ¾ to 1¼ points lower. Studebaker lost ¾ to 104½ and Mack Truck ¼ to 87½ but Chandler Motor advanced ¾ to 65½. Pan American rose ½ to 61¼; Caden ½ to 31¼ and California Petroleum ¾ to 23½; but Phillips Petroleum lost ¼ to 33 and General Asphalt one point to 35.

Railroad shares opened heavy. Great Northern preferred declining ½ to 57¼, Chicago and Northwestern ¼ to 58½ and Baltimore & Ohio ¼ to 59½.

DEATH TINKLING

15, Los Angeles 13, Denver 16, San Francisco 13, Knoxville 5, Atlanta 5, Birmingham 4, Albany 4, Nashville 2, Norfolk 2.

In addition estimates for Ohio were 400, Iowa 100, Colorado 75, Indiana 52, Wyoming 50, and New Mexico 3. In the 19 counties forming the Syracuse enforcement district in New York, there have been 35 deaths and 100 hospital cases.

In New York city last year approximately 7,000 alcoholics went to hospitals for treatment. Figures will be higher this year, according to the health department.

Today the country faces a food of liquor. At least 30 boats are in the "rum armada" off the Jersey coast and thousands of pints and quarts are run in by small craft every night and foggy days.

Flood of Liquor
The government is sending more custom boats to aid the four now trying to keep the Jersey and Long Island shores dry. At Atlantic Highlands, N. J., the whiskey base, are 150 federal agents, state police and county agents trying to keep the landed booze from getting through.

Thousands of gallons are coming over the Canadian border. Nine dry agents are trying to stop the flow into New York state.

On the Mexican border rangers are trying to stop Tequila and Chihuahua beer from getting by. Inland states have their "moonshine" and synthetic beverages to contend with.

Will Extend Scope Of German Inquiry

Paris, Dec. 11.—Louis Barthou, chairman of the inter-allied reparations commission, has assured Col. J. A. Lagan, the American representative, that the scope of the proposed inquiry into Germany's capacity for indemnity payment by an international commission of experts "would be wider than previously," it was learned today.

SMALL BEGINNINGS SHOW BIG RESULTS

Many great enterprises begin in a small way. Many a successful advertiser has begun by using classified advertisement in a modest way. These brought good returns, which enabled the business to be developed, and eventually large advertisements were profitably used. Intelligent use of the little ads in The Salem News either by advertiser or reader will prove to you.

EUROPE WILL BE THE MAIN ISSUE

PARTY LEADERS SAY FOREIGN AFFAIRS WILL CUT CHIEF FIGURE IN CAMPAIGN.

HAS PUBLIC MIND CHANGED?

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Democratic and Republican leaders here seem to have become convinced that Europe will be the main issue in the national campaign of next year. This does not mean, of course, that domestic issues will be relegated to the rear, but it does mean that the pleas for support of the candidates of the two parties will be based on the contentions for and against the League of Nations that were so much in evidence in the campaign of 1920.

Seemingly it was the hope of some of the Democratic leaders that America's relation to foreign affairs could be minimized as an issue in the next campaign, but seemingly also their wish in the matter is not to prevail. A majority of the Democratic leaders, since the speech of former President Wilson on Armistice day, favors, it would seem, the entering into a hard fight in behalf of an effort through American influence and participation to straighten out the affairs of the world.

From time to time some men have said that since 1920 there has been a growing sentiment in behalf of American participation in some form or other in European affairs. Even some of the Republican leaders have come to think that some proposition for helpfulness would be advisable as a party measure. This feeling of some of the Republican leaders was voiced by President Harding when he laid before the senate his plan for American entrance into the World court. The plan of Secretary of State Hughes for a financial commission to study the question of Germany's ability to pay also is said to have been in response partly to a recently generated sentiment in many parts of the country.

There are in the ranks of both the great political parties, however, as there always have been, solid phalanxes of men who utterly are opposed to any American proposition to offer help to Europe. These men say that Europe will not accept help in the way that the United States would desire to offer it, and that nothing but resentment and trouble would come if the general American impulse to help anywhere and everywhere were allowed to prevail.

Since the speech of former President Wilson other Democrats have taken the platform to echo his sentiments. Former Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, in speaking to a great financial organization in Detroit, has said that America has fostered on the "upward pathway" in international affairs which had been blazed by Mr. Wilson. And he asked when this country would resume its place as leader of the world.

On the other hand, there are Democrats and many Republicans with them who have declared that the "upward pathway" of Mr. Colby's conception really is a "downward pathway." The situation in politics as it affects any attempted American intervention into European affairs still seems to be just what it was, unless, as some think, the people who are not politicians have come into a new mind on the subject one way or the other and that these un-mindful ones may in the next campaign settle the question, perhaps, for all time.

Coolidge and the World Court. Washington still is curious as to what President Coolidge may say in his forthcoming address to congress on the subject of American entrance into the World court, which was a matter so close to the heart of President Harding and concerning which he made what was virtually his last speech in life. The trend of events seems to make it probable that President Coolidge will say little or nothing about his own administration's proposal for a financial commission to discuss Germany's ability to pay, and because of his trend of things interest is sharpened in what he will have to say, if anything, on the World court proposal.

Since Calvin Coolidge came into the presidency those prominent ones in his party who were opposed to American participation in any form in European affairs have become more and more outspoken in their opposition to the World court membership proposal. Politics, it is charged, will enter into the matter, but whether the President will be moved by political considerations or not, remains to be seen.

There are men who today say directly that if the President shall endorse and press the World court proposal of President Harding he will lose his chance to be nominated by a convention of the delegates of his party next year. There are others who say that he will make his nomination certain if he shall stand by the dead President's proposal. It is only proper to say, however, that there are many men here who declare that Mr. Coolidge will not be moved in the least by political considerations, but will treat the World court matter in accordance with his private beliefs on the subject.

Just Like Him. "I particularly like this dress; it's rich, yet at the same time simple." "Of course, dear! A kind of permanent reminder of your husband."

COURT NEWS

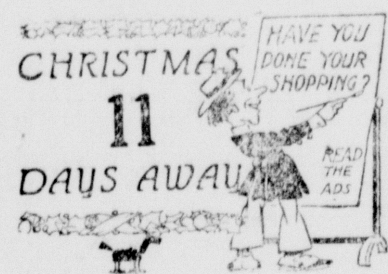

Strike Recalled By Suit. An echo of the street railway strike in the East Liverpool-Weirsville district was brought to light in common pleas court, when George Finley, former taxi operator filed an action against Edison Watson, of Weirsville to recover a claim of $100 as damages.

Finley claims he took his machine to Watson for repair and the bill was $33.75. Finley then made an agreement, he declares to paint the Watson home and gave Watson $25, thereby clearing the garage bill. Finley says he put two coats of paint on the Watson house, then tendered the $25 cash as agreed, and that the money was refused, and that Watson also refused to release the automobile. The machine was then sold. Finley now wants $100.

Judgment Actions Filed. Through his attorney L. J. Kyes of East Palestine, E. H. Roberts has filed an action against Charles Fery to recover judgment on a note given Sept. 1, 1914, and which with accumulated interest now amounts to $215.32.

Attorney George T. Farrell, at the same time went into common pleas court and made it known that the obligation of Fery to Roberts was admitted and then asked that Roberts pay Fery $446.48, which he claimed is due him and that the action of Roberts against Fery is dismissed.

Attorney Kyes has also filed an action in common pleas court in behalf of W. H. Zundel, who alleges that N. S. Sultz of near Negley is obligated to pay him $800 on a note. Sultz is represented by Attorney Farrell in this action also.

BRINGING UP FATHER

HOMEWORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Thomas and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Smith and daughter, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Slaybaugh in Akron Sunday. J. O. Grim, who took charge of the farm formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pilmer, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pilmer, son of the farm, and his wife and children at Steubenville over Sunday. Mr. Grim bought the Pilmer farm in September.

The members of the Ladies' Just-A-Mere club held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Davidson Thursday evening. A very nice supper was served and a jolly good time was enjoyed.

Mrs. Anna Klopfenstein, who was badly injured by a fall at her home in Homeworth one day last week, is slightly improved.

The Farmers Institute held here Friday and Saturday of last week, was a great success. The program was extra good this year.

Guy P. Thomas, Miss Ceila Roth, Henry Thomas, Miss Ella Borton, E. E. Grimes, Miss Dora M. Thomas, were in Canton Sunday evening.

The dirt roads are getting bad in many places.

Levi Stoffer is having a well drilled for crude oil on his farm. Arthur Cameron is the driller.

A. J. Connel will retire from farm life and will have a public sale Sunday, Dec. 15, on his farm three miles east of Homeworth.

Harry young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, is very ill with scarlet fever.

Miss Duell King who was with her sister Mrs. Olive Guthrie of Minerva, a few weeks has returned to Homeworth.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar in the church basement Friday and Saturday, Dec. 14 and 15. Friday evening the ladies will give a chicken supper and on Saturday evening an oyster supper.

News was received here Friday that A. L. Johnson had died at Miami, Fla. Wednesday. Mr. Johnson had been in failing health the past year and Oct. 19 of this year, left his late home in Alliance with wife and children for Florida. Mr. Johnson lived for many years in Homeworth, having built fine home here. He was an oil driller and came to Homeworth from Marietta in May, 1902, buying the oil lease on the D. W. Thomas farm from Dennis Carnan and F. P. Hae of Warren, Pa., drilling two wells making seven in all on the farm and within a short time he bought the leases on the Brooke and Pieren farms adjoining, where he drilled a number of wells, some being good producers. He sold his oil interests in the Homeworth field to George Kiel, Sr. and son of Alliance in February 1918, soon after buying property in Alliance, making that city his home. The deceased was 65 years of age and has many friends here who deeply regret his death.

DENBY SUBMITS HIS PROGRAM TO MODERNIZE NAVY

Navy Secretary Presents Sweeping Program To Congressmen.

Washington, Dec. 11.—A sweeping program for the modernization of the American navy, including the elevation of guns on battleships to increase their firing range, was recommended today by Secretary of the Navy Denby in his annual report to congress.

An initial appropriation of $6,500,000 to elevate the big guns was made by congress about a year ago, but the work was never started because of a misunderstanding with Great Britain. Denby served notice today, however, that the navy was determined to go ahead with its modernization program "unless adverse action is taken by congress."

"In the opinion of the navy department," Secretary Denby declared, "the elevation of the guns will not in any way contravene the spirit or letter of the treaty for the limitation of naval armaments."

This opinion is contrary to that of Secretary of State Hughes and of the late President Harding, who ordered a halt in the gun raising program as a result of the disagreement with Great Britain.

Explaining his position, Denby said: "An appropriation of $6,500,000 was made by the 67th congress for the purpose of increasing the elevation of the turret guns of 13 of the treaty battleships."

"Quite unintentionally the impression given to congress was that the disparity between the ranges of these 13 ships of the navy and the 22 ships of the British navy was overwhelmingly in favor of the British."

"As a matter of fact, there is a serious difference in the ranges at which the two fleets can engage but not as great as the impression given in a fleet action all the vessels of a fleet congress. It is quite obvious that in a fleet action all the vessels of a fleet cannot be firing upon the enemy until the enemy is under fire by the ship of the shortest range."

"In such a fleet action we would have seven ships that can fire slightly over 20,000 yards, whereas the ships of shortest range in the British fleet, according to the British naval writer, Mr. Bywater, can fire 23,800 yards, making a difference of practically two miles."

"In other words, if the British remained at a range just equal to their shortest range ships, the first of over a third of our ships could not reach them. This would automatically reduce the size of our fleet by one-third."

Bovine Tuberculosis Is Being Eradicated Through Area Plan

Columbus, Dec. 11.—With work well under way in 12 counties and 23 is rapidly coming to the fore in the other counties waiting to begin Ohio eradication of bovine tuberculosis through the area system of testing, according to a statement today by State Veterinarian Zimmer.

Since the area testing plan was established Aug. 1, last, supplanting the accredited herd system, 40,000 head of cattle have been tested. At least 120,000 head should be tested by Aug. 1, 1924, Mr. Zimmer said. Scientific investigation has proven that tuberculosis germs are transmissible to humans, particularly children, through drinking milk, according to the veterinarian.

Cattle not yet tested in Ohio number 825,000, or 55,000 herds. Counties now using the area plan include Allen, Belmont, Tuscarawas, Columbiana and Wayne.

BUILDING HALTED BY FIRE MARSHAL

Changes in Leetonia's New Community Building Are Considered.

Leetonia, Dec. 11.—Work on the new community building has been delayed by the state fire marshal's office until the conditions are perfected. Another matter under consideration is the fact that the building will have to be enlarged to accommodate the ball players. To do this at the proper place would require an extension of a part of the house which would take the land and two feet from the office of the garage on Columbia st. Whether this can be adjusted has not been learned.

THE FOOL THRILLS SALEM AUDIENCE

Smashing Dramatic Triumph
Seen At Grand Theater
Monday Night.

Channing Pollock's great drama, "The Fool," impressed and thrilled patrons of the Grand theater Monday night as a smashing dramatic triumph.

In his play Pollock has contrasted extremes of the social order to introduce many character types which stand out in the activities of every day life. He also has indicated that the golden rule may really be made to work in application to present-day affairs.

The big lesson of the play is that true success lies in the successful accomplishment of any given work, and that the wealth of the universe will be as nothing to the man who is a failure in his own home and heart.

A mass action scene comes as the climax of the third act with all forces joined against the young minister who has given his life for the uplift of others and who is about to be "sacrificed" by the ones he has helped.

With the mob in action, a child kneels in prayer and then comes a miracle which brings the "miracle" in the next act and the play comes to a finish that leaves the audience in a pleasant mood.

Leo Kennedy gives a fine performance of Daniel, the minister. With a voice of exceptional resonance and power, Kennedy delivers his lines with an understanding that gets full value of every scene.

Gay Seabrooke is an outstanding figure as the pathetic Mary Margaret and Jerome Sheldon is memorable as the sinister Jerry Goodkind.

The piece has many strong characters, all of which are played with telling effect. "The Fool" is easily one of the best attractions ever presented in Salem.

PRICES AT FARM LOWER, IS REPORT

Columbus, Dec. 11.—Prices at the farm for all farm products, except hay, corn, eggs, milk and butter, are lower than they were last year at this time, according to a report of Crop Statistician West here today.

Hay averages about $18.25 a ton, an increase of $4 over last year. Corn averages 27 cents a bushel higher, despite the fact that it generally is of a very poor quality because of the high moisture content. Eggs averaged 55 cents a dozen at the farm, as compared with 53 cents last year.

Wheat, buckwheat, live chickens, hogs, cattle and lambs are all lower in price than they were last year West reported.

WRITER'S ADVICE

Editor News:

After reading the suggestions in last evening's News as to what will make Salem happy, I could not refrain from writing just one more letter; because all but one suggestion gave rise to the question: "How can it be brought about?" How shall we proceed to make our citizens law abiding; or temperate; or righteous; or tolerant; or have faith in God?

We already have our jails, courts and churches trying to enforce and encourage these things; but the evil still remains; hence, the original question, or what does Salem yet need to bring about an era of righteousness?

That it requires more than preaching and rigorous laws, is self evident. It would seem that righteousness, like any other desirable social quality, comes by way of development. Of course, there are exceptions; but as a rule, the individual does not care to practice it.

Rightsness is not the game of our day. We are all engaged in playing the opposite, each trying to win from the rest, or at least engaged in it for individual aggrandizement of some kind. Nor will it be given up because it is known to be wrong. The people must be weaned from it. They must be given a new game. They must see the new played successfully before they can be persuaded to adopt it. But who is going to teach them? Who is at present playing it?

County Phone 46-F-4.

The act of playing righteousness towards the heathens and calamity stricken people, is no fun. The people at large do not think it even interesting. Games are not played as the act of casting one's bread upon water, but for amusement. Although the water is truth itself, yet it does not conform with the rules of the practical (?) game the world at large is playing.

It is one of the impossible feats to turn mankind to righteousness simply by church or like invitation. The non-churchgoer doesn't care for church, he does, however, care for righteousness. He is hungering and thirsting for it now as, perhaps, never before. Our statute books with laws trying to enforce it. Why is it hiding? Some say because we have too many laws; others, we have not enough. Once whisky got the blame; today, "blind rule." Is it not a fact that these things are but the result and not the cause of our trouble?

It behooves each and everyone of us to take an inventory of our righteousness occasionally; for unrighteousness manifests itself in many ways. It does not always raise its head as lawlessness and libertinism. It wears a mighty fine garb at times. A minister once called me from a distance to rescue a drunken man who had fallen into a swollen stream. This man lacked even the righteousness of trying to save a life.

Social outcasts of all kinds have hearts that beat just as kindly as do those of our society pets. Do we try to cultivate their friendship? "There were ninety and nine that safely lay." What about the lost one? Are we making any social effort to redeem him?

It is so easy to cultivate the friendship of those who think and act as we do. But where is the virtue? Even thieves do that.

Virtue requires more. It cultivates the friendship of those who do not think and act as it does. Christ was accused of being a friend of sinners. That is righteousness.

Instead of complaining against a sinner, righteousness would at least make it easy to become acquainted with him. Besides, a little knowledge of human nature and no one would approach him as a soul saver, but rather as a social companion who is interested in some accomplishment or quality of his.

The act of living a righteous life in this unrighteous age, is not easy. It often means martyrdom. Which of us will stop and speak kindly to that "seedy," uncouth person standing idly upon the street corner there? Do you know him? Perhaps not, nevertheless a kind word might be the means of making him a credit to our city.

Genius and true worth of any kind are often mistaken for rowdiness; for Hours daily except Sunday

It is not infrequently eccentric, queer, temperamental. It often seems to feed upon and live for itself.

Several days ago, the heavy traffic detained me from crossing the street. While standing there, I spoke a few words to a stranger next to me. He was an awkward looking fellow, unshaven, and in a general way seemed to be advertising his lack of personal pride intentionally. It did not take long, however, to learn that this man was well posted on current events. I gave him the floor, and by drawing him out, I also discovered that he was no less posted in the realm of the finer arts, not only posted, but that he had a talent for music, poetry and art. He was very interesting, detaining me nearly an hour.

Salem is full of such people. They are not as unrighteous as may be supposed. All they lack is the desire for hiding their respective unrighteous streaks. Apart from this, they are no different from other people. Out of such timber, Salem could build a lasting monument to her credit. It may be found a little weather beaten and checked, but a coat of social paint will make it sound and polished as any other.

It is for this that I deem a forum indispensable. What we need is a public nursery where we old boys and girls—and young ones, too—may meet and play our games—a place where we may become acquainted, and thus unconsciously develop cleanliness of character, congeniality of social deportment, and charity towards each others' opinions and temperamental peculiarities. Let us quit scrapping and begin playing; for such is righteousness exemplified.
